WRITE, WIRE FOR REPEAL OF AUTO USE TAX

William J. Gottlieb president of the Automobile Club of New York has asked the members to "deliver a telling blow" against the discriminatory auto use tax ($5 and $10) by letting their elected city officials know the "extent of motorists continued and ever increasing opposition to it.

We ask all automobile owners to join the write in campaign and press for repeal of the tax before it comes up for collection again in June.

You may write to Mayor Robert F. Wagner, City Hall, New York, 7, N. Y.; Borough President James A. Lundy, Borough Hall, Kew Gardens 24, N. Y.; or to your City Councilman, Robert E. Barnes, City Hall, New York 7, N. Y.

Before his election Mayor Wagner pledged repeal of the auto use tax, as did five of the other seven members of the Board of Estimate and twenty of the twenty five members of the City Council.

USE TAX BRINGS IN $35 MILLION

How much revenue has the auto use tax brought into the city's treasury since it was first imposed in 1952 as a "stop-gap" emergency measure?

Based on reports from the City Comptroller's office, the tax has yielded $34,911,766.

The amount collected has risen steadily since the first year, when $8,171,675 was realized by the city from the sale of the $5 and $10 stampss. The following year, receipts were $8,671,174. In 1954, the total collected came to $854,215, while last year the tax brought in $9,214,702. Official estimates are that the tax, if and when it is collected this year, will raise an additional $9,200,000.

In addition to the auto use tax, motorists pay a variety of other local, state and Federal taxes on their cars, and, of course, as citizens pay all the other taxes paid by everyone else.

These taxes average about $343.67 per motorist in New York City during the first year of operating his automobile.

They include: State operator's license, $3; average state license plate fee, $16.67; 4-cent-a-gallon state gas tax, $28; 2-cent-a-gallon Federal gas tax, $14; city sales tax on purchase of car, $81; city sales tax on gas, oil and parts, $15; Federal excise tax on car and tires, $166, and tolls for tunnels and bridges, $20.

To be added to this amount are parking meter fees, garage costs and insurance as well as the other expenses of upkeep on his car.

—New York Motorist.

RED CROSS DRIVE SUCCESSFUL

Despite the fact that during the first two weeks of the Red Cross Drive there have been seven rainy days, the Central Queens Red Cross Chapter is slightly ahead of the same date last year, according to William H. O'Neill of Belle Harbor, 1956 Fund Chairman. However, in order to allow volunteer workers an opportunity to complete their assignments, chairman O'Neill is not calling a general meeting until after Easter week. He urged all men assigned to the Commerce & Industry division under the chairmanship of Cornelius Sager to complete their assignments as rapidly as possible.

Mrs. James J. Hennessey of Elmhurst, Community Appeal chairman also urged her house to house and apartment canvassers to take advantage of clear weather and cover their blocks or apartment houses. Mrs. Hennessey said today, "Early reports show that individual gifts are larger than last year as the public apparently realizes that the Eastern and Western floods drained the financial resources of the American Red Cross."

SCHOOL DAYS

BY TEACHER

SPELLING
By Teacher

To many children spelling is a bug-bear and the learning of it a much hated chore. Very bright, as well as average or dull pupils, will often be found to be poor spellers. Occasionally a dull pupil blessed with a good memory will become a fairly good speller. He depends upon memory rather than reason in recalling the letter sequence of words.

Average and gifted pupils should be able to spell. Due to individual differences some will need to put more effort into the task than others. In spite of this there is hardly a valid reason for poor spelling in these two groups.

The amount of education an adult possesses is often judged by the way he writes and spells the words he uses. Poor spelling usually leads the reader to be very critical of the writer and unfavorable circumstances may be the consequence of a poorly spelled letter.

If a child does not like spelling he must in some way be convinced of the necessity of becoming a good speller. He must be made to realize that good or poor spelling has a direct bearing on his future activities both in school and later when he is attempting to earn a living. He must learn to guard against possible embarrassment that may result from poor spelling.

The school day is not long enough to give the amount of drill required by a habitually poor speller for the purpose of improving his spelling status. He needs a great deal of help at home, help that is both patient and intelligent.

It must be realized by the parent that no child is ready to undertake the study of spelling until he has become a fairly good first year reader and has mastered the letters of the alphabet. A child therefore is not ready to begin the study of spelling until he is somewhere between the age of seven and eight mentally.

When attempting to teach a child to spell many parents become distraught at the child's failure to advance rapidly. This is often followed by anger on the part of the parent, who threatens and punishes the child until he too becomes so bewildered the learning process becomes stymied.

The first requisite for the parent who would improve his child's standing as a speller is patience. The child must not be taunted into hating spelling. He must be gently led into finding interest in the subject and finally to liking it. This may be done in several ways.

Before starting to help the poor speller it is important the parent find out from the teacher the words the child is expected to know for the term or at least to date. It is also important the parent find out by means of a simple test the words the child knows how to spell. Time should not be wasted in drilling on these known words. The time should be given to studying and developing the words the child finds difficult to master.

Writing words in lists or in sentences is the most common form of spelling drill. Oral spelling is another common method of drill. For most children, however, word lists hold little or no interest. The young child should be encouraged to keep a scrap book of items to be spelled. For instance, if he is to spell the word dog, he might look through old magazines for all sorts of pictures of dogs, cut them out, paste in the scrap book and label both in script and printed letters. This can be done with many of the words he has to learn to spell.

The older child might be urged to play word games or to work out word puzzles in order to gain an interest in spelling. He should be encouraged to use the dictionary in connection with these games and puzzles.

For his formal spelling, homework parents should see to it that a child has a well lighted suitable place to study. It should also be quiet enough for him to concentrate. The spelling note book must of necessity be legibly written and the child should be persuaded to rewrite the words until the desired legibility has been attained.

Though it takes a lot of patience and consumes a lot of time it is worth while for a parent to give his child all the attention necessary to make him a good speller.

FIVE NEW SCHOOLS FOR QUEENS

New P.S. 221 in the Deepdale section of Douglaston, which is to be erected this year by the Board of Education, will have an enrollment capacity for 1,010 pupils in grades from kindergarten through 6B, according to the architect's program of requirements released today through Vito F. Lanza, Board Member from Queens assigned to the area.

The school, listed for construction in the 1956 Capital Budget, is to be erected in the vicinity of Marathon Parkway and 60th Avenue, Mr. Lanza said. It is designed to relieve overcrowding in nearby P.S. 94 and P.S. 187, and to provide additional elementary school facilities for children from many new residential developments recently completed or under construction in this section of Queens. Appropriate groundbreaking exercises will be held as soon after Labor Day as conditions permit, the Board's announcement stated.

Mr. Lanza said that, although a previous Board action had limited the capacity to 716 pupils, "more recent studies show that a building for approximately 1,000 children should be erected to provide more adequately for the present and estimated future elementary school enrollments."

To compensate for the change in pupil capacity, the Board is expected to request the Board of Estimate to increase the current Capital Budget allowance of $1.6 million to a new figure of about $2.0 million, Mr. Lanza said.

P.S. 221 will contain 24 regular classromms and 4 kindergartens, as well as nature study room, library, auditorium, gymnasium, and lunchroom, the program of requirements disclosed. Many of the larger areas will be made available for community use after school hours for social, educational, civic, and cultural activities.

The Douglaston project is one of 5 new school buildings slated for construction in Queens this year. Sponsored by Mr. Lanza and Vice President Charles F. Rank, the other Queens Member on the Board of Education, the others are P.S. 105 in Arverne, J.H.S. 180 in Rockaway Beach, J.H.S. 194 in Whitestone, and Thomas A. Edison Vocational High School in Jamaica.

An addition for P. S. 165 in Flushing is included in the program.

TEMPLE SHOLOM NEWS

Starting Monday and continuing until April 9th, for the Hebrew School and until April 15, Sunday, for the Sunday School, the Religious School pupils will be on vacation.

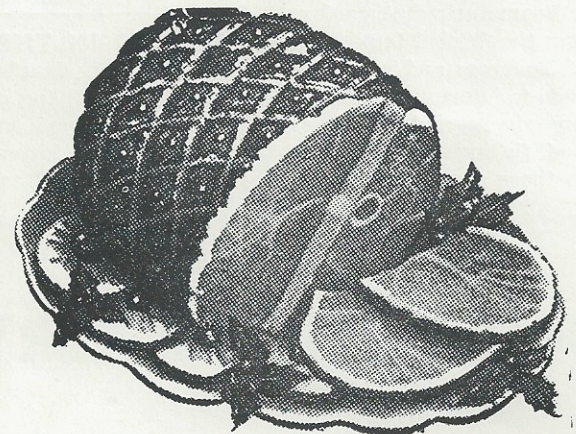

Passover, a week long festival, began at sunset, Monday, March 26. The holiday, known as "Pesach" in Hebrew, is of scriptural origin. It commemorates the emancipation of the Israelite slaves from Egyptian bondage under the leadership of the law-giver and prophet, Moses. Passover marks the successful outcome of the first slave revolt and struggle for freedom in human history. The holiday, however, commemorates not only the past but also anticipates the future. What is known as the Passover of the future is a harbinger of the liberation and deliverance of all humanity through every form of bondage.

The principle of Passover service consists of a family and table ceremonial known as the Seder, which is a colorful ritual represented by many symbolic articles and practices to contrast the blessings of freedom over the afflictions suffered in bondage and oppression.

ST. GREGORY'S TEEN-AGERS TO GO ON T.V.!

Circus Trip Also Planned

On Monday afternoon, April 16th, St. Gregory Confraternity Club will participate in the popular TV Show "Teen-Band-Stand" on Channel 7 of the Mutual Broadcasting Company at five o'clock.

This program, long a popular one with teen-agers, is headed by Ted Steele and Jeanie O'Brien. The High-School boys and girls will feature several Square Dancing exhibitions, and Miss Mary Lou Bachus will give a twirling exhibition.

Following the Telecast, one hundred and fifty boys and girls of the Confraternity Club will go to Madison Square Garden to view the Ringling Bros. annual "Greatest Show On Earth"—the Circus. Members in good standing have been signing up for the Circus at the regular Confraternity meeting each Thursday evening.

On March 22nd, a Dancing Contest was held and exquisite prizes were awarded to the winning couples. For the Fox-trot the winners were Donald Brockew and Marilyn Kandler. Outdoing all others on the Lindy-hop Contest were Terrence Smith and Joan Crawford. As the best all around Dancing couple in the Fox-trot, Lindy-hop, and South American dances, Edward Lee and Frances Jerome took top honors.

On April 5th, the Confraternity Club will sponsor an Easter "Bunny Hop" with music provided by the Buddy Ried Quintet. All the members enjoyed a St. Patrick's Dance on Thursday, March the 15th. Door prizes and lucky spot Dances awards were given to Keny Salter and Martha Buck and also to Joseph Smith and Coreen Walsh. Plans are being discussed for a trip to Bear Mountain and Maryknoll Seminary, and a Boat Ride to Rye Beach to conclude the first year's activities of the Confraternity Club.

6-4 ASSEMBLY PROGRAM

by Jane Rudin

Class 6-4 presented an Assembly Program on March 1, 1956 of Folk Dances for the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Grades Assembly. Mr. Boroff, who is from the Curriculum Center, helped the class with some of the dances, and danced the Polka with the children during the program. They did a few Square Dances. The Hora and the Hokey Pokey. A few of the children in the class did the Lindy and the Cha Cha Cha as illustrations of two popular dances. The class worked very hard to make its program a success and everyone enjoyed it very much.

SPECIAL ASSEMBLY

by Arnold Leninger

On February 24, Mr. O'Brien from the Board of Fire Underwriters instructed us on how to prevent fires in the homes. Some of the preventative methods he told us about are,—do not smoke in bed, keep matches away from small children, be sure fuses are of the proper size. If you do these things you will have a safe home.

NEW GAME FOR PLAYGROUND

by Jane Rudin

The Playground at P. S. 133 just received equipment for a new game of Ping Pong to be used during the Spring and Summer. The large table is now in the building and the school awaits net and balls. The Playground also has much other equipment such as Knock Hockey, Chess, Checkers, Parchesi, Volleyball, Paddle Tennis, Handball, Shuffle Board and ious offensiveness in costuming and situations. Furthermore, religious practices are presented in such a way as to misrepresent ecclesiastical procedure.

Pick-up Sticks. These games will be available for use during the Spring and Summer.

A TYPICAL LUNCH AT P.S. 133

by Gladys Frederick

A typical lunch prepared in the kitchen of the lunchroom of P. S. 133 for the children by Mrs. Birle, lunchroom manager and staff, consists of meat, vegetables, salad, bread and butter, dessert and milk. On Fridays, the meal consists of fish or salads with vegetables. At times casserole dishes are served. Some of the dessert are ice cream, fruit cups and puddings, cookies, and cake. The cost for all of this is a dollar and fifteen cents weekly.

Lunch is served in two shifts. After the 2nd and 3rd grades are served, the children leave for the sub-basement and the 4th, 5th and 6th grades take their place. Upon finishing, the classes line up in the indoor yard and return to their classroom.

BROTHERHOOD POSTERS

A poster contest on Brotherhood was held at P. S. 133 and many grades submitted entries. The contest was sponsored by the B'nai B'rith Organization. Prizes were awarded at P. S. 172 located at 256th Street and 82th Avenue. The winning posters are now on display in the Glen Oaks Public Library.

First prize was won by Jane Uftring of class 6-4 and second place went to Linda Ross of 6-3. Among those receiving citation were Lois Doherty of 6-1, Irene Boruch of 6-1, Shirley Pollinger of 6-3, Stephanie Lunianski of 6-3, Jane May of 6-3 and Carol Straus of 6-4.

READING AT P. S. 133

Reading at P.S. 133, an exhibit on methods of learning to read is located in the second floor conference room. Every class is represented in this exhibit with actual class work. For example, from 6-1 there are book reports, 6-2 creative writing and reports, 6-3 reports on Mexico, 6-4 reading books and work books. Every class has placed in this exhibit books that they are reading. All parents are invited to visit and see it from 11:00 to 12:00 P.M. in the second floor conference room.

BOOK BUS

Bellerose Commonwealth Civic Association

Ralph M. Hayden, Pres.

At the meeting of your association on February 21, the assessed valuation figures were made available to all those interested. A discussion followed as to how we could best solve the problem of the ever increasing tax rate — a volunteer committee was formed and the president will shortly call a meeting in conjunction with the board of directors meeting at which this committee can start functioning.

Your president recently attended a meeting as a representative of the Eastern Queens Civic Council (of which our association is a member) with borough President Lundy and some of his staff to discuss the sewer assessment equalization problem and other civic matters—the borough president and his staff were very cooperative and helpful. A report on sewer assessment methods throughout the U. S. and a study of same and recommendations for changes to bring about a more equitable method in N. Y. City is being prepared by the borough president's office and will be distributed to all civic groups for study.

The following items of importance were brought to my attention and as yet I have not had time to look into them but they seem of great importance and therefore I list them with no comment at present.

There are bills in Albany on the following subjects of:

Homestead bill—to give homeowners tax relief.

A bill to put the burden of proof as to assessments on the city and not the homeowner.

A bill to put tax exempt projects back on the tax rolls.

IMPORTANT—

The Mayor of the City of N. Y. has on his desk a proposal to extend the subway to the city line—via Hillside Ave. (I have been told that a homeowner with a 40' plot on Hillside Ave., will be assessed about $4,000 and those a block away about $2,000 and so on back, and around, and around, and around we go again—where does it stop! ! !

If you have any civic problems write your officers. President, R. F. Hayden, 8718 252 St., Vice Pres., S. Schneider, 246-20 86 Rd., Corr. Sec., J. Brandi, 251-08 87 Ave.; Rec. Sec., A. Ripley, 8448 251 St.; Treas., V. Laur, 244-24 84 Rd.

Our spring dance will be held May 5th at Koenigs restaurant, tickets will be available soon—plan to come and meet your neighbors. Call Sam Schneider for information.

The Bellerose Commonwealth Civic Association wishes to thank The Manor News and its publisher and editor Mr. Begley for the cooperation and space it gives to the association. The Manor News renders a great public service to our community and we all, I am sure, realize and appreciate its efforts.

It is probably true that a knock may be a boost—but very few of us care to be boosted that way.
