EDUCATIONAL TOURS IN NEW YORK CITY

A new aid to teachers, recreation directors, club presidents and others who plan group activities and trips has been announced by the New York Convention and Visitors Bureau. It is a 12-page brochure called "Educational Tours in New York City," and is available free to group leaders who write to the Bureau for assistance in planning a trip to the city.

The Bureau points out in the booklet that New York offers an extremely diversified list of things to see and do all year round. Throughout the five boroughs are historical landmarks which tell the story of the city's growth over 300 years and illustrate the role it has played in the country's history. It is possible to trace the cultural development of men and nations in countless museums and art galleries; get a first hand glimpse of the business and industry that make New York the bustling modern city it is today; study a variety of architectural styles ranging from converted mansions to ultra-modern skyscrapers; visit the city room and presses of a metropolitan newspaper, go behind the scenes in a great department store, or take a tour of a huge ocean liner. All these suggestions, and many more are included in "Educational Tours."

Of great interest to those groups who must budget their trip carefully is the fact that most of the tours in the booklet are free. Detailed information on how to arrange these tours is included with a brief description of what the group may expect to see at each place it visits.

"Educational Tours in New York City" is designed to supplement the Visitors Bureau's other free folders on New York which are planned primarily for the individual vacationer. For a free copy, write the Convention and Visitors Bureau, 90 East 42nd Street, New York 17, N.Y.

Nurses Aides Wanted At St. Albans Hospital

Captain Herman A. Gross, Commanding Officer of St. Albans Naval Hospital, has asked the Central Chapter of Queens, American Red Cross to recruit 125 volunteer Nurse's Aides for the hospital, according to Mrs. Michael M. Schultz of Hollis, Chapter Vice Chairman for Volunteers. This is the first time that St. Albans Hospital has asked for volunteer Nurse's Aides to serve on the wards and every effort is being made by the Red Cross Chapter to recruit new aides for a streamlined forty hour training course. Volunteer Nurse's Aides should be between the ages of eighteen (18) and fifty-five (55) and should have at least the equivalent of a high school education. They must pass a physical examination and upon completion of their training course will be asked to serve on the wards and in the dependent's clinic.

Mrs. Schultz urged that new volunteers contact the Central Queens Red Cross Chapter at 92-32 Union Hall Street, Jamaica, or telephone REpublic 9-6880, extension 9 for an appointment. After filling out an application and being interviewed at Red Cross Headquarters in Jamaica, the final screening and training will be done at St. Alban's Hospital. Efforts will be made to reactivate former Nurse's Aides who served during World War II and also to interest women who have completed the Red Cross Home Nursing course and who might be interested in going further with their training by becoming Nurse's Aides.

SCHOOL DAYS

BY TEACHER

SCHOOL ENTERTAINMENT

Assembly programs are not given in schools for purely entertainment purposes. They have great educational and cultural value as well. In addition they often prove to be valuable means through which latent talent may be discovered in a child and lead him eventually into the field of professional entertainment. Many a bright theatrical star has shone in later life because of inspiration gained in performing on the school stage. Many teachers are good directors and showmen and by their efficient handling of child performers imbue them with ambition to become public performers.

If a child has any talent at all, he should be urged by his parents to volunteer for school entertainments. Nothing will be gained by forcing a child into these situations, but if someone at home is able to influence a child in this respect, then between the home folks and his teacher he may be inspired to great achievement in the performing arts. Some of the very large cities in this and other countries have schools of performing arts, where gifted children may perfect their talents with a view to making a livelihood thereby.

There is a large variety of activities in which a child may participate during the year's schedule of assembly programs. For the child who has a gift for declamation there is the solo recitation, the choral speaking groups or parts in simple school dramas or comedy skits. Appreciation for poetry, drama and short literary masterpieces may develop in children participating in such programs. For the child with a good singing voice there is the solo or group singing as in quartettes and glee clubs. Playing instrumental solos or holding membership in the school band are broadening experiences for the child who prefers instrumental music. A deep appreciation for good music may result from participation in these musical activities.

Last but by no means least, there is the art of dancing. Folk dances are taught to children as part of their health curriculum. Performances of these dances are often given as part of an assembly program or a May park fetes. Those children proficient to some degree in tap or ballet dancing are given opportunity to display their talents in school entertainments.

Taking part in school programs is for the most part extra curricular activity for both teacher and children. Much time is spent after school hours in drilling and directing the youngsters in their parts. If any school time is devoted to rehearsals, then extra homework must be given to make up for the academic time lost.

What price all this extra work and study? Is it only a frill or a fad depending upon the school? By no means. School entertainments make up an important part of school life and possess much merit. In the first place they broaden the child's horizons giving him a wider view of good literature, music and other arts. Through participation in school entertainments he learns self-control and gains confidence in himself thereby growing in poise. Taking part in school entertainments may result in later life hobbies or goals for the future. Either are good for the child.

A child's attempt to entertain should never be laughed at or belittled. Parents should encourage such activities and give favorable or constructive criticism where it is needed. The ability to perform before others, learned in childhood, has made colorful, in many instances, what might otherwise have been a dull and mediocre life.

Congratulations

To Mr. and Mrs. Edward Muenkel of 82-39 247th Street on the birth of their first baby, a daughter Nancy Mary, 7lbs. 3ozs. on February 16 at Mary Immaculate Hospital. Mrs. Muenkel is the former Mary McIntosh.

This is a new plateau for grandparents Mr. and Mrs. William McIntosh, but both are bearing up well.

Excitement is the order of the day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Maas, grandparents to a baby girl, Gwendolyn, 7lbs., born April 3 to Mr. and Mrs. George Maas, Jr. Mrs. Maas, Jr., is the former Jeannette Whitefield of 85-27 — 253rd Street.

Jeanette and George are both graduates of P.S. 133, and Jamaica High School. George a Korean War Veteran now employed by I.B.M. is studying to be a systems engineer at their school in Kingston, N. Y.

Spring Tourists

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dolson have just returned from a month of lolling in Florida sunshine.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Biss and daughter Patricia of 241-21 86th Ave., spent two weeks at Clearwater and Miami enjoying Gulf and Ocean bathing, and of course perpetual sunshine.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cook and daughter Susan of 87th Avenue went on a motor tour during Easter week to visit daughter Louella at Antioch College in Ohio.

The traffic cop in Bedford Pa., saw Lou heading for Cumberland Gap, and says to himself that's not the way to Ohio. It seems this is Lou's favorite neck of the woods and a little detour doesn't matter.

Mike Dellacona of the Della Service Station at 242nd Street and Hillside Avenue is recuperating at Fort Lauderdale, Florida. We hear he is really stepping out and doesn't look a day over 90. We wish him the best of health and hope to see him back in harness soon.

A used-car expert says the two major mistakes made by used-car buyers are concentration on price instead of quality and failure to take a demonstration ride.

Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Bisson of Bellerose Manor, New York have announced the engagement of their daughter, Audrey M. Bisson to Ronald C. Lavery. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Lavery also of Bellerose Manor.

Audrey M. Bisson

Announcement was made at a dinner given for both families by the fiance's parents on her birthday in honor of both occasions.

Miss Audrey M. Bisson is a graduate of St. Mary's in Manhasset. Now a Junior at Hunter College she is an active member of Delta Zeta and a delegate to Pan-Hellenic.

Upon graduating from Jamaica High School Mr. Ronald C. Lavery entered the photoengraving business.

Allegheny College News

Douglas H. Bedell, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Bedell, 224-24 Eighty-sixth Avenue, Bellerose, has been named to Phi Beta Kappa at Allegheny College.

Bedell will be graduated in June with a degree in American studies. In addition to his studies he is serving as area reporter for the Erie (Pa.) News, and is completing three years of part time work in the college's office of public information. He was a vacation replacement reporter for the Long Island Daily Press the summer of 1955.

Also named among the thirteen seniors to receive the Phi Beta Kappa award is Joan Keller of Hartsdale, in psychology; and Hir-onari Onishi, Kyoto, Japan, for work in physics. Onishi is the first foreign student at Allegheny to be named for the honor.

Phi Beta Kappa was organized at William and Mary College in 1776 to recognize scholastic achievement and campus activity. Eta chapter at Allegheny was established in 1901.

Cadet Robert Raymond

Naval Aviation Cadet Robert H. Raymond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Raymond of 257-11 E. Williston Ave., Floral Park, qualified as a Carrier Pilot on March 15.

Raymond attended the Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn and Oklahoma A and M College before entering the Naval Aviation Cadet Program.

TID BITS

Two-Forty-Six, Hillside To Eighty-Fifth and Nearby

From fragmentary reports on his present condition we have been able to surmise that Artie McDoal, one of our former and respected neighbors, is on the road to recovery from his recent operation. We trust his health will be restored soon and that his hostelry, Parkhurst at Luray, Virginia will continue to prosper.

One person who will be pleased at the completion of the paving job on Hillside Avenue is Gloria Farley, our genial crossing guard at 248th Street. Gloria's vigilant guidance of the school children across the heavily traveled Hillside Avenue is by no means an easy assignment and many parents have expressed their appreciation of her skillful handling of a busy intersection.

Another person who would be pleased to be back on the job is Pat Morris, the cracker-jack checker at Kollner's Hillside market. Pat has been out on disability for several months because of a sprained back and is expected to return to duty soon.

True to her nature and traditional fondness for animals, Mary Mortier (247 and Hillside) cared for a little black dog recently that had jumped or was thrown from a passing truck. Mary not only gave the dog shelter but had it inoculated at Bide-a-wee Home at Wantagh where it is now a permanent guest. The Mortiers had a similar experience several months ago with a stray pet rabbit that wandered onto their premises. They had it as a household pet for a time but that too is now at Bide-a-Wee.

Edna and George Long can still hear the patter of tiny feet around their house although it is now several weeks since their grandson Kevin Burke and his mommy and pappy moved to their own home in Hollis Gardens. We wish the young folks well in their new undertaking and feel sure the grandparents will continue to enjoy the patter of little feet in both homes.

Let's Have Another Cup of Coffee With Brand New Coffee Apple Pie

How could there possibly be a better dessert than home-baked apple pie and coffee? There could—and here it is—it's apple pie with coffee flavored pastry and a zesty coffee glaze on top. Both improvements are easy to make by simply adding Nescafé, dry, to the other ingredients—and as for the coffee to drink with this delicious dessert, it's made in an instant from the same jar as flavors the pie.

COFFEE APPLE PIE

Coffee Pie Crust:

Add 1 tablespoon Nescafé to your favorite pie crust mix. Prepare pastry for two-crust pie according to label directions. Line 8" pie plate with half the pastry.

Filling:

- |   |                             |
|---|-----------------------------|
| 6 to 7 cups tart apple slices, ¼" thick | ¼ teaspoon salt             |
| 2 to 3 teaspoons lemon juice            | ¼ teaspoon nutmeg           |
| ½ teaspoon grated lemon rind            | ½ teaspoon cinnamon         |
| ¾ cup sugar                             | 1 tablespoon butter, cut up |

Combine and toss gently all ingredients except butter. Fill pie shell. Dot apples with butter. Place remaining pastry over apple mixture; seal edges; bake at 425° F., 40 minutes, or until apples are tender. While warm, glaze pie with:

Nescafé Glaze:

Combine and stir until smooth 1 teaspoon Nescafé, 1 tablespoon boiling water, ½ cup sifted confectioners' sugar, and spread over top of pie. Serve pie warm, or reheat.

POISON-IVY REMEDIES

The Public Health Service recommends a 10 per cent solution of tannic acid dissolved in alcohol, applied vigorously enough to rub off the tops of the blisters. The treatment should be repeated three or four times at six-hour intervals.

Other remedies include a 10 per cent solution of the photographer's "hypo" solution, (sodium thiosulphate) applied as a wet dressing; local applications of a solution of baking soda or Epsom salts; calamine lotion, in the early stages, and the addition of 2 per cent phenol to the lotion to relieve itching.

In acute stages, ointments should be avoided. Compounds with a fatty base tend to spread any poison remaining on the skin.

New York has a new museum—the Museum of Primitive Art located at 15 West 54th Street. The first of its kind in the world, it will be devoted to the artistic achievements of the indigenous civilizations of the Americas, Africa, Oceania and early phases of the civilizations of Asia and Europe, states the New York Convention and Visitors Bureau.

When Lilacs Last At The Cloisters Bloomed

The last time a lilac bust was seen at the Cloisters was in the pages of 'Marjorie Morningstar'. Since publication of that best selling novel, New York City's Metropolitan Museum of Art reports scores of inquiries as to the whereabouts of these romantic blossoms. Maybe Herman Wouk's heroine had difficulty recognizing a lilac bush from a Japanese dogwood, but according to the New York Convention and Visitors Bureau, nary a lilac bush has been known to bloom in the history of the Cloisters, the Metropolitan's Medieval branch in Fort Tryon Park.

A Memorable "Memorial Day" Weekend In New York

New York has its charms in all seasons but none is lovelier than spring. The city seems to bloom with gay sidewalk-cafes; softly stirring airs ripple the young-leafed trees; sunbeams dance and everything seems to glitter with the freshness that only spring can bring.

You'll love New York in the spring, so why not plan a lovely week-end over the Memorial Day holiday. Come to New York when, according to the New York Convention and Visitors Bureau, the year-round vacation city waits to offer you an exciting choice from her numerous attractions — from art to window shopping.

Everybody loves a parade — the year-round vacation city waits to offer you an exciting choice from her numerous attractions — from art to window shopping.

Everybody loves a parade — there's a big one planned for Memorial Day when contingents from all branches of the armed services and members of Veteran's organizations will march. The parade will start at 10:00 a.m. Thursday, May 30th, at 79th Street and West End Avenue, go south to 72nd Street, west to Riverside Drive, then north to 95th Street, passing in review before the Soldiers and Sailors Monument at 88th Street.

This holiday week-end also marks the opening of the 51st Washington Square Outdoor Art Exhibit on May 30th in Greenwich Village. You can watch the artists at work and see their paintings, hung on fences and building walls, making Washington Square and the surrounding streets a colorful art gallery. If you like your art in more formal surroundings, the Museum of Modern Art will be in the midst of its summerlong all-Picasso exhibit.

If the winds are right, you may be fortunate enough to view the arrival (expected June 1st) of the Mayflower II (authentic replica of the historic Pilgrim ship).

For the sports-minded, the Giants will be at home to Philadelphia in a double header, May 30th; the Yankees play Baltimore at Yankee Stadium, May 31, June 1st and 2nd. There is racing at Belmont Park, May 30th, and June 1st; polo at Bethpage and Meadow Brook, L. I. on June 2nd. On Memorial Day itself, oarsmen of all nations will take part in the International Seaman's Life Boat race at the Brooklyn Narrows.

Theatre goers will find a wide choice of dramas and musical plays — on and off Broadway — a pleasing variety of first run movies and many worth-while revivals.

To see the city with ease, take a sight-seeing boat or a bus tour around Manhattan Island. A visit to New York's five top sight-seeing attractions — The Empire State Building, Rockefeller Center, Statue of Liberty, Times Square and the United Nations will give you a wonderful idea of how New York looks from its most famous vantage points.

Visitors are invited to attend religious services in one of New York's many places of worship. There are more than 2,500 of them in the city.

The biggest, busiest city of the world has time to entertain children, too. The Gilbert Hall of Science offers an exciting display of trains and mechanical construction devices. There will be entertaining movies at the American Museum of Natural History on June 1st; and a visit to the zoo in Central Park or the "Just for Children" Zoo in Bronx Park will make for a memorable afternoon.

Coney Island is, of course, the world's greatest amusement park and children of all ages will enjoy its thrills. If you prefer less excitement, why not just stroll along the boardwalk enjoying the sea breezes.

Hotel accommodations are available at a wide range of rates in the city's fine hotels. In addition to the hotel restaurants, there are thousands of other excellent restaurants specializing in cuisines from practically every corner of the world. New York has many famous nightclubs, too, where top performers of the entertainment world appear regularly.

Spending Memorial Day week-end in New York will give you a wonderful preview of the festive summer season to come. If you

He is from North Dakota and graduated from the University of No. Dakota with a Masters Degree in philosophy.

Our next bit of news is that we are now grandparents of a girl 4 months old who was born to Carole and her husband Navy Lieutenant Gerald Harris in Japan. They are now on their way back to the States and will be stationed at Treasure Island, San Francisco, so we will be able to see them

Clean White Linens Wanted

With spring cleaning over for many housewives, Mrs. John F. Carroll of Richmond Hill, Hospital Dressings chairman for the Central Chapter of Queens, American Red Cross issued an appeal for clean, white linens. The linen is cut and made into hospital dressings for incurable patients by hundreds of volunteers working at Chapter headquarters, 92-32 Union Hall Street, Jamaica and in production units located in churches throughout the borough.

Mrs. Carroll stressed that white, clean sheets, bed spreads, table cloths and pillow cases make excellent dressings and donations should be delivered to the Red Cross headquarters at the Jamaica address.
